Independent Study Proposal Form

Independent Studies are offered as an opportunity for students who wish to pursue an academically challenging project or topic that is currently not covered in the curriculum. Independent Studies are not required and are not automatically granted. Only students with a well-developed proposal, high academic standing and the approval from their advisor and program director may pursue an Independent Study. Independent Studies are not a means to apply for financial aid or to lighten a student's course load for an upcoming term.

Student to complete sections I to IV. Check the Daniels website for deadlines to submit independent study course proposals; note, if after the SGS deadline to add/drop a course, the request will require SGS approval in addition to the program director's approval.
